Beat it in 3.6 hours. Honestly expected more, though I don't know why. Sound Track is pretty good though.. This is a great and very funny little game; its basically a top-down puzzle solver in which you have to use an arsenal of different weapons and abilities to create a domino effect of destruction, earning you the highest score and fulfilling objectives of each level.. 3/5 Stars. I was dissapointed at first because this is actually a puzzle game. It provided fun for about 2-3 hours and now I am board of it.. christmas 2011. Very very short (around 90 minutes to complete the first campaign) and I haven't tried the DLC. It's a fun little waste of time to play with the physics and figure out the puzzles. That said, sometimes the physics are frustrating because you might know exactly how to blow something up but a barrel doesn't fall just right.. What an interesting indy game. I was hoping that this would be something like the old game Blastcorps on the N64 back in the day. It isn't really anything like it, but thats ok. This game forges its own frontier and it does it pretty damn well. Hardware enabled Physics, some fun indy humor, and funny/cute grpahics turn this indy puzzle game into a winner in my book. It isn't very expensive either! If you like puzzles, and you have a decent graphics card, this game is amusing and enjoyable.. my balls just dropped. Fun arcade-style mayhem in the name of the old school Rampage.
